Assessment

The Counseling Center provides a range of alcohol and other drug (AOD) assessment services to help you identify if you, or someone you know, has a problem with alcohol or other drugs.

Self-Assessments

The following assessments are accessible online on the counseling center's website, are free and anonymous.

- eCHECKUP TO GO alcohol
- eCHECKUP TO GO marijuana
- College Response

In-person Assessments

These assessments include completing several computerized instruments and 2 individual meetings with a clinician.

- Mandated AOD assessments for Housing or Student Integrity violations
- Voluntary AOD assessments for students concerned about their substance use

Treatment

The Counseling Center is committed to supporting students in all of their mental health needs, including those with substance abuse and dependence. The following services are available to students struggling with varying degrees of substance abuse:

- Individual Counseling
- AOD Therapy Group
- Integrated AOD treatment team to coordinate care between providers
- Educational workshops for classes and student groups
- Community referrals for students needing more intensive levels of care
- Crisis Counseling

Recovery

More and more students are returning to college after entering recovery from substances. Studies have found that students in recovery who attend Collegiate Recovery Programs have increased rates of graduation, better GPA’s and increased recovery success.

Georgia Tech’s Collegiate Recovery Program (CRP) is open to any student who has been in recovery for at least 6 months. The CRP is designed to support students’ academic and social functioning and does not replace treatment. If you are interested in finding out more about this program or applying to be a member, please contact Dr. Abby Myers at abby.myers@vpss.gatech.edu.

CRP meets every Thursday from 4-5 p.m. in the Counseling Center.
